

University of Pennsylvania's Barbara and Edward Netter Center for Community Partnerships and the Department of Earth & Environmental Science present:

HEALTHY HOMES: MEETING CHALLENGES IN COMMUNITY HEALTH & OUTREACH

an Academically Based Community Service panel

Expert panel includes:

- Tyra Bryant-Stephens, MD, Director, Community Asthma Prevention Program
- Carla Campbell, MD, Drexel University
- Michelle Niedermeier, Integrated Pest Management Program, Penn State Extension
- Dalton Paxman, Regional Health Administrator, Region III, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
- Lora Werner, Senior Regional Representative, ATSDR/CDC Region 3

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 2012

2:00 – 4:00pm

Fagin Hall Auditorium, School of Nursing
University of Pennsylvania
Light refreshments to follow

Facilitated by Richard Pepino

This initial session of this three-part panel series will highlight the outreach and educational opportunities that our Academically Based Community Service (ABCS) courses provide to our neighboring West Philadelphia community. During these academic courses, our students learn the significance of giving back to the community that they call home during their undergraduate years.

The purpose of the panel series is to review some of the focus areas that current ABCS courses explore. To aid the public in understanding the focus of our series, we have invited local and regional experts to share their knowledge and experiences on each of these topics. The initial lecture will focus on the "Healthy Home" and the potential health risks that often plague our community because of residential and environmental exposures.

Each seminar will be facilitated by a member of the Earth & Environmental Science Department who has been teaching in the ABCS program.

Upcoming Symposiums:

Is Childhood Lead Poisoning Still a Problem?

March 15, 2012

Fagin Hall Auditorium, 2-4pm
facilitated by Robert Giegengack

Risks and Opportunities in Urban Watersheds

April 5, 2012

Bodek Lounge, Houston Hall, 2-4pm
facilitated by Fred Scatena

The Netter Center
for Community Partnerships
University of Pennsylvania
www.upenn.edu/ccp

For more information and to RSVP for this event, please visit <http://abcssymposiums.eventbrite.com> or email marthap@sas.upenn.edu