

The Graduate Program in Folklore and Folklife and the Department of Classical Studies present:

Prof. Evangelos Gr. Avdikos,
University of Thessaly
“Continuity, Identity, and Folk Studies in Greece”

Monday, October 20th, 4:30 p.m.,
Moose Room, 3619 Locust Walk

Folk studies in Greece have played a role both in the creation of the Greek national state and in the shaping of the Greek identity. The theory of continuity is a key concept for understanding these processes.

Dr. Evangelos Gr. Avdikos,
Professor of Folkloristics at the University of Thessaly, Greece, researches cultural identities, narratives, oral history and memory, and the supernatural. He has conducted fieldwork with both Rom children and refugees from the former Soviet Union.

Refreshments will be served.

