The Graduate Program in Folklore and Folklife, the Center for Folklore and Ethnography, the Middle East Center, and the Arthur Ross Gallery proudly present:

Dr. Henry Glassie, Indiana University
“Flowers of the Mountain: Anatolian Rugs Today”

Thursday, March 30th, 5 p.m.
Arthur Ross Gallery
220 South 34th Street

This talk is presented in conjunction with the exhibit of Antique Anatolian Carpets From Philadelphia Area Collections, guest curated by Dennis Dodds.

Dr. Henry Glassie ('69) is the College Professor of Folklore at Indiana University. Widely regarded as an expert in folk art and material culture, he has written numerous books on these topics, including The Potter’s Art (1999), Art and Life in Bangladesh (1997), and Turkish Traditional Art Today (1993).

Reception to follow.