BEYOND UNCONSCIOUS BIAS

 Penn
Arts & Sciences
Office of Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

This workshop builds on our fall implicit bias conversation. In this session, we will explore unconscious bias in the context of structural inequities and Dr. Banks will provide evidence-based strategies on how to de-bias our interactions. Participants will leave understanding how their personal biases exist within larger patterns of inequity. This workshop is open to the SAS community with a focus on faculty, postdocs, staff, and graduate students.

To accommodate schedules, the same workshop will be offered twice.

Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

The SAS Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion supports all students, faculty, staff, post docs, and alumni in the School of Arts and Sciences. We support dialogue, inquiry, and programming that works toward creating inclusive and equitable practices to provide access to academic research environments and the pursuit of knowledge. We accomplish this through robust recruitment and retention practices, building and sustaining a caring and supportive community, and deepening knowledge as well as connection to one another.
